http://www.theregister.co.uk/2011/03/07/google_remotely_kills_android_malware_apps/

"While the motives for what Google are doing are good I do find it disconcerting that an organisation has the ability to remotely control what applications I run on my system. Given that many smartphone devices probably also contain sensitive data this is an additional reason to insist that people encrypt any data they store on such devices." B. Honnan
